Abstracts

This NRG Expert product provides a continuously up-dated listing of global electric power generation projects proposed, under construction or awaiting commissioning.

Currently there is 1.6 million MW of new generation capacity planned

The projects in this database range from those which are mere ideas to those near completion

Commissioning dates are given for 44% of the database, otherwise a description such as 'planned', 'tender', 'under construction' is given and 35% note specifically 'no date for commissioning'

All projects have been identified with as much information as available and more is added on a continuous basis

It is not always easy to ascertain the status of projects in the pipeline

It is no by no means uncommon that a project is announced as starting or already started and for it then to be delayed for some years while unforeseen problems are resolved, usually involving financial, official approval or environmental obstacles

Large projects are also frequently commissioned in stages, with separate units coming on-line over years, sometimes many years
