The auto finance market provides credit and leasing options for vehicle purchases across new and used segments. It includes banks, OEM financing arms, credit unions, and fintech platforms offering auto loans, leases, and refinancing solutions. Rising vehicle costs and consumer preference for flexible ownership have driven sustained demand for auto finance solutions. digital auto financing platforms gained traction, offering instant loan approvals, paperless processing, and credit scoring using alternative data. Subprime and used car financing segments expanded due to inflation-driven affordability concerns. Captive finance arms offered promotional APRs and loyalty programs to boost OEM sales in competitive markets. The embedded finance and AI-powered loan underwriting will define market growth.
