Abstracts

Introduction

Starview has extended the CEP model by adding what it terms as 'Analytical Event Processing (AEP)'. This provides for the events to be considered in the light of the current state of business parameters so that the full context is used to drive business decisions instead of logic being hard-coded to the events in isolation.

Features and benefits

Understand the value that business state management adds to complex event processing and event-driven applications

Understand how the federated architecture of Smart Enterprise Platform enables scalability to manage large volumes of events from multiple sources

Highlights

Ovum believes that the key opportunities for Starview are growing awareness of the benefits of real time analysis and packaged event-driven applications, along with the growth of smart grids, the adoption of advanced IT systems in manufacturing, and the increasing adoption of event-based architectures,

Your key questions answered

What opportunities exist for exploiting the combination of business state awareness and complex event processing in typical business scenarios?

What value does Starview bring to the market through its Smart Enterprise Platform and packaged applications based on this?
