U.K Private Healthcare Market:

The U.K private healthcare market estimated to be valued US$ 11.8 Bn in 2017 and poised to grow at CAGR of 2.6% over 2017 to 2023. Market for private healthcare services projected to reach US$ 13.8 Bn by 2023 due to rise in NHS waiting times and referrals to the private sector.

Rise in self-pay individuals coupled with overseas patients expected to fuel market growth

In recent times patients in the country increasingly preferring private healthcare services over NHS services for elective procedures and several non-urgent services owing to rise in NHS waiting lists and packaged pricing from private healthcare providers. This is expected to fuel market revenue growth in near future. Moreover, this trend has been well capitalized by service providers by mean of offering packaged and discounted prices along with fixed consultant fees to attract the patients, which is expected to drive the market revenue growth over the forecast period.

A rise in NHS waiting list and e-Referrals from GPs driving market growth

The rise in waiting list in recent times for several ailments in NHS is prompting patients to choose private healthcare services over NHS services. The rise in NHS waiting time more than 18 weeks for treatment is expected to bolster private healthcare market in UK. Moreover, flexibility in GP referrals where, patients can opt for desired time, date, and hospital/clinic for consultation, which is creating market opportunity for the players in U.K private healthcare market. According to NHS the numbers of patients waiting for NHS services are growing in recent times.

Mute in growth of PMI expected to hinder market revenue growth

The decline in private medical insurance uptake in last few years and decreasing pay-out to clinics and hospitals for healthcare services by insurance providers expected to hinder market revenue growth in midterm. Moreover, ongoing decline in inpatient and day caseload is currently hindering the market growth and relatively fewer companies offer medical benefits after retirement which could hinder market revenue growth of private healthcare market in U.K
