CT Scanner Bearing Market Review 2025

Overview

The CT scanner bearing market is anticipated to see robust growth in the next few years, driven by advancements in medical imaging technology and increasing demand for high-quality imaging solutions. Bearings play a critical role in maintaining the functionality and precision of CT scanners, affecting the overall performance of these machines. As healthcare providers continue to enhance their diagnostic capabilities, the requirement for reliable and durable bearings in CT scanners has become paramount.

Market Size

As of 2025, the global market for CT scanner bearings is projected to reach approximately USD 1.47 billion, growing at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 5.4% during the period from 2025 to 2030. This growth can be attributed to increased investments in healthcare facilities, restoration of medical equipment, and demand for advanced imaging technologies.

Market Share & Trends Analysis

The CT scanner bearings market is segmented based on product type, process, application, end-use, and region. By product type, the market can be categorized into rolling bearings and plain bearings. The rolling bearings segment holds the largest market share, making up approximately 60% of the total market due to their superior performance characteristics. The increasing utilization of innovative materials for bearing manufacturing, such as ceramic and hybrid bearings, is also expected to propel market advancements.

Key Players

Leading companies in the CT scanner bearing market include:

Kaydon
Koyo Bearings
SKF
NSK
New Way Air Bearings
LYC
NTN
Schaeffler
Minebea Mitsumi

By Process

In terms of process, the market is divided into lubrication processes greased bearings and oil-flooded bearings. Greased bearings are expected to dominate the market accounting for about 65% of market share due to ease of maintenance and operational efficiency. The shift toward enhanced lubrication technology will also spur the growth of oil-flooded bearings.

By Application

The application segment is classified into high-end slice CT scanner, mid-end slice CT scanner, and low-end slice CT scanner. The high-end slice CT scanner segment leads the market with a share of around 45%, fueled by higher investments in advanced medical imaging solutions and sophisticated diagnostic applications. The mid-end and low-end CT scanner segments are expected to grow steadily, driven by increasing healthcare access in developing regions.

By End-Use

The end-use analysis reveals that hospitals constitute the largest share of around 55% in the CT scanner bearing market. This is followed by diagnostic imaging centers and ambulatory surgical centers. The growing trend of diagnostic imaging and the establishment of advanced healthcare facilities in emerging economies are anticipated to enhance the infrastructure in hospitals, thus increasing the demand for CT scanner bearings.

By Region

Regionally, North America commands the largest market share of approximately 35%, supported by the presence of leading healthcare institutions and a rising number of diagnostic imaging facilities. Europe and Asia-Pacific regions are also crucial markets, with the Asia-Pacific expected to grow at the fastest CAGR of 6.2% due to increasing healthcare expenditure and the modernization of healthcare infrastructures in countries like China and India.

Market News on Policy and Companies

In recent years, there have been several key policies and strategic initiatives aimed at improving healthcare infrastructure globally. Governments in various regions are investing heavily in upgrading medical imaging technologies, which subsequently influences the CT scanner bearings market. Companies are focusing on partnerships and collaborations to strengthen their market positions. For example, SKF announced a strategic partnership with GE Healthcare to innovate bearing solutions for advanced imaging technologies.

Segment Forecasts, 2025 - 2030

The promising outlook for the CT scanner bearing market suggests several growth trajectories through 2030. The rolling bearings segment is expected to grow at a CAGR of 5.8%, while the greased bearings category will also witness steady growth with a forecast CAGR of 5.4%. By application, high-end CT scanners will likely maintain their lead, growing at a CAGR of 6.0% as technological advancements continue to enhance imaging accuracy and efficiency.

Conclusion

In summary, the CT scanner bearing market is positioned for substantial growth over the period from 2025 to 2030. With increased demand for advanced diagnostic capabilities in healthcare, innovations in bearing technology, and strengthening of global healthcare infrastructure, key players are poised to benefit significantly from this market trend. Continuous investments and collaborations within the industry will be crucial to cater to the evolving needs of the healthcare sector.
