Abstracts

Mobile marketing refers to marketing using a mobile device, such as a smartphone. It involves promotion of products and services for devices, networks, and smartphones. Mobile marketing is almost similar to electronic advertising and makes use of graphics, text and voice messages. Mobile marketing allows customers to access products and services easily.

Based on solutions, the market is divided into SMS, QR codes, MMS, Mobile applications, in-app messages, and location-based marketing. According to end-user, it is categorized into small-scale enterprise and large-scale enterprise. By industry vertical, the market is segmented into aerospace and defense, automotive, higher education and research, retail and consumer goods, healthcare, banking, and others. Geographic breakdown and deep analysis of each of the aforesaid segments is included for North America, Europe, Asia-Pacific, and LAMEA.

MARKET DYNAMICS:

Drivers:

Increasing usage of smartphones and increasing in number of tablet computers

Development of mobile banking and payment systems

Restraints:

Privacy concerns and lack of trust among consumers

Opportunities:

Ease and convenience of usage

Cost-effectiveness
