Intraoral Scanners Market - Overall Industry Analysis 2023

As per the report published by Progressive Markets, the global intraoral scanners market was valued at 281 million USD in 2016, and is expected to grow at a CAGR of 9.8% from 2017 to 2023. The report provides a thorough research by expert analysts and helps to develop a clear understanding of the global intraoral scanners market size and share for the duration, 2017-2023.

Intraoral scanners are used by orthodontists to capture 3D images of dentition and tissues of oral areas. Moreover, intraoral scanning offers a superior quality of images than the traditional equipment. It allows dentists to capture images in a natural, fluid manner. It provides small handpiece, gesture control, and precise imaging quality. The data generated by intraoral scanners result into fewer remakes, less office visits, easier collaboration with clinicians, faster turnover, and greater patient satisfaction. These factors have increased referrals and boosted the intraoral scanner market.

Drivers and Restraints:

Constant technological advancements is the major driving factor for the intraoral scanner market. Over the years, dentistry is immensely evolved, and digitalization is the prime reason for it. The introduction of digital radiography has brought ease in organization and storage, lower radiation, time efficiency, and enhanced imaging techniques. These benefits have increased the sale of intraoral scanners across the world. Today's scanners provide a quick and easy interface and an accurate imagery, which helps clinicians to provide a better and faster treatment. However, high cost of the devices and scarcity of skilled professionals hinder the market growth.

Key Segments:

Global intraoral scanner market is segmented based on brands, end user, and geography. The segmentation analyzes the key market trends, factors affecting the market, and opportunities in the industry. Based on geography, the report is divided into North America, Europe, Asia-Pacific, and LAMEA. The report includes segment-wise analysis of market share for the period 2017-2023.
