Abstracts

BDO market retained slack most of the time in 2008 except some temporary rises. As the sagging demand persists amid increasing supply, which clouds BDO market overwhelmingly, to what extent will the newly-start capacity influence BDO market? How severely has downstream segment’s downturn stifled demand? What are the other factors cause price to slide? With the successive start of new capacities in the coming years, how will supply pattern of BDO market change its structure? All these questions will find their answers in this report.
