Abstracts

Branding agencies develop, launch, and manage brands for businesses. The branding process can include the creation of names, terms, logos, symbols, and overall integrated marketing communications that can help form a recognizable business with a strong identity. Branding agencies also specialize in rebranding, the process of establishing or reestablishing an existing business's identity. These agencies work with diverse businesses across many industries and generally coordinate with a business's marketing department. Protection of a business's brand or other intellectual property is often achieved by working with law firms that specialize in intellectual property litigation. After branding or rebranding, businesses typically require new strategies and campaigns to promote and spread awareness of their new identity. With this in mind, branding agencies may offer marketing strategy services alongside their branding services.

Since the COVID-19 virus outbreak in December 2019, the disease has spread to almost 100 countries around the globe with the World Health Organization declaring it a public health emergency. The global impacts of the coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19) are already starting to be felt, and will significantly affect the Branding Agencies market in 2020.

COVID-19 can affect the global economy in three main ways: by directly affecting production and demand, by creating supply chain and market disruption, and by its financial impact on firms and financial markets.

The outbreak of COVID-19 has brought effects on many aspects, like flight cancellations; travel bans and quarantines; restaurants closed; all indoor events restricted; over forty countries state of emergency declared; massive slowing of the supply chain; stock market volatility; falling business confidence, growing panic among the population, and uncertainty about future.

This report also analyses the impact of Coronavirus COVID-19 on the Branding Agencies industry.

Based on our recent survey, we have several different scenarios about the Branding Agencies YoY growth rate for 2020.
