Abstracts

Cannabidiol (CBD) is an ingredient found in cannabis family plants, both marijuana and hemp. Hemp is produced legally and in commercial quantities in many parts of the world, including the United States, Australia, Canada and the UK. To many, CBD is thought to contain most of the health benefits of medical cannabis. CBD has been sought after for many who suffer cancer and other diseases. CBD beverages are not just used to help with medical issues, but also as a dietary supplement among other applications.

Since the COVID-19 virus outbreak in December 2019, the disease has spread to almost 100 countries around the globe with the World Health Organization declaring it a public health emergency. The global impacts of the coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19) are already starting to be felt, and will significantly affect the CBD-Infused Beverages market in 2020.

COVID-19 can affect the global economy in three main ways: by directly affecting production and demand, by creating supply chain and market disruption, and by its financial impact on firms and financial markets.

The outbreak of COVID-19 has brought effects on many aspects, like flight cancellations; travel bans and quarantines; restaurants closed; all indoor events restricted; over forty countries state of emergency declared; massive slowing of the supply chain; stock market volatility; falling business confidence, growing panic among the population, and uncertainty about future.

This report also analyses the impact of Coronavirus COVID-19 on the CBD-Infused Beverages industry.
