Abstracts

Hair masks are nourishing hair treatments for your hair. They often contain oils, butters and other hydrating ingredients to supercharge your hair conditioning efforts. Plus, they spend more time sinking into and nourishing your hair than your average shampoo or conditioner, meaning that you can get even more dramatic benefits even in a single use. The market is categorized into Thermal Steam Hair Mask and Steam-Free Hair Mask. Thermal steam hair mask held the largest percentage share with revenue of 143 million USD in 2017, and about 89% market share, as the thermal steam hair mask is widely used in salons and spas. Steam-free hair mask will see rapid growth with the more and more popular use at home.

North America accounted for the biggest consumption area, with about 35.8% market share in 2017. Europe followed as the second, with 29.7% market share and 6255 K Units sold in 2017. These products have gained popularity and visibility among female customers. The advertisements aired on social media platform, televisions and other platforms have a huge impact on end-users. Moreover, increasing penetration of national and international salons in tier II and tier III cities in Asia Pacific, EMEA and North America region is predicted impede the demand for the hair masks.

Asia Pacific is the largest manufacturer base of hair mask product with more than 67% of market share in 2017. Large companies such as Unilever and P&G are likely to set facilities in this area, for the low cost of labor and raw materials, also with great potential consumption market.

Key players in the market are Coty, P&G, Est?e Lauder, Unilever, L'Or?al, Henkel, Revlon, KAO, Shiseido and Lovefun. Most of the companies are engaged in adopting strategies such as mergers and acquisition, collaborations, and new product development to increase their market share.

Since the COVID-19 virus outbreak in December 2019, the disease has spread to almost 100 countries around the globe with the World Health Organization declaring it a public health emergency. The global impacts of the coronavirus disease 2019

(COVID-19) are already starting to be felt, and will significantly affect the Hair Mask 3900 market in 2020.

COVID-19 can affect the global economy in three main ways: by directly affecting production and demand, by creating supply chain and market disruption, and by its financial impact on firms and financial markets.

The outbreak of COVID-19 has brought effects on many aspects, like flight cancellations; travel bans and quarantines; restaurants closed; all indoor events restricted; over forty countries state of emergency declared; massive slowing of the supply chain; stock market volatility; falling business confidence, growing panic among the population, and uncertainty about future.

This report also analyses the impact of Coronavirus COVID-19 on the Hair Mask 3900 industry.
