Abstracts

A stoma is an artificial opening structure that connects the internal luminal organs, such as the intestine or ureter, and the outside of the body to ensure the discharge of feces or urine. According to its function, it is also called an artificial anus or an artificial bladder.

According to QYResearch's new survey, global Ostomy and Stoma Care market is projected to reach US$ 4744 million in 2029, increasing from US$ 3515 million in 2022, with the CAGR of 4.3% during the period of 2023 to 2029. Influencing issues, such as economy environments, COVID-19 and Russia-Ukraine War, have led to great market fluctuations in the past few years and are considered comprehensively in the whole Ostomy and Stoma Care market research.

The Ostomy and Stoma Care market is primarily driven by the rising prevalence of chronic diseases, such as colorectal cancer and inflammatory bowel disease, leading to an increased need for ostomy procedures. Ostomy care products play a vital role in maintaining the quality of life for individuals with stomas by providing necessary support, protection, and hygiene. Additionally, the growing awareness of the importance of proper stoma management and the development of advanced and user-friendly ostomy care products contribute to market growth. However, challenges include the stigma associated with living with a stoma, which can impact patient acceptance and adherence to care regimens. Ensuring proper education and support for patients and healthcare professionals, as well as addressing potential complications like skin irritation or infections, are ongoing concerns. The market's success hinges on continuous product innovation, patient education initiatives, and collaborative efforts among healthcare providers, manufacturers, and patient advocacy groups to enhance the well-being and comfort of individuals requiring ostomy and stoma care.
