Abstracts

Hand sanitizer is an antiseptic in the form of gels, foams, sprays, or in liquid which is used instead of wash hands to avoid infectious diseases. Surging importance of hygiene and sanitization to prevent contagious diseases among the Asia-Pacific's region will further boost the growth of this market. China & India are the major markets for the hand sanitizer owing to growing awareness regarding hygiene, especially hand hygiene as well as health consciousness among population along with the outbreak of numerous diseases. According to Renub Research report, The Asia Pacific Hand Sanitizer Market will be USD 4.5 Billion by the end of the year 2026.

The Centre for Disease Control, famously known as CDC, has recommended using hand sanitizer to avoid getting sick. The key factors boosting the growth of the market are growing awareness about health and wellbeing; new fragrance launched in hand sanitizer industry, changing lifestyle. Most important due to the outbreak of COVID-19 globally, people have understood the importance of maintaining hygiene and sanitization.

Alcohol-based hand sanitizer is leading sanitizers, especially in the healthcare sector. Nevertheless, concerns over toxicity and harmful effect of alcohol-based products on the skin have raised the demand for non-alcoholic hand sanitizers.
