Abstracts

Point of Care Testing Market is anticipated to be US$ 36 Billion, by 2024 experiencing a significant growth over the forecast period. The concept of Point of Care Testing (POCT), also known as bedside, near-patient testing and decentralized testing, relates to tests that are conducted by clinical operators at the site of patient care where immediate medical action is taken on the results. The fact that point of care (POCT) represents a departure from conventional laboratory medicine has created new opportunities in the field of diagnostics industry.

Point of Care Testing market is expected to witness substantial growth due to rising incidence of chronic diseases; rapidly growing middle class population in developing countries like China & India, Continued Expansion of Point of Care Including Self Testing and New Evolution in Point of Care Testing further boosts the demand for the industry over the forecast period.

Renub Research report titled “Point of Care Testing Market, Global Forecast, By Diagnostics (Blood Glucose, Cardiac Marker, Lipid Panel/Cholesterol, Blood Coagulation, Infectious Disease, Urinalysis, Drug of Abuse, Fecal Occult Blood, Pregnancy & Fertility and Tumor Marker), Mode (Prescription-based Testing and OTC-based Testing), End Users (Hospitals, Clinic, Laboratories, Assisted Living Healthcare Facilities and Home), Regions (North America, Europe, Asia-Pacific Latin America and Middle East/Africa), Companies (Abbott Laboratories, Siemens Healthineers, Roche Diagnostics, Quest Diagnostic Becton, Dickinson & Company and Johnson & Johnson)” provides a complete analysis of Point of Care Testing Market.

By Diagnostics - Blood Glucose and Infectious Disease controls the Point of Care Testing Market

The report studies the market of the following Diagnostics segments: Blood Glucose, Cardiac Marker, Lipid Panel/Cholesterol, Blood Coagulation, Infectious Disease, Urinalysis, Drug of Abuse, Fecal Occult Blood, Pregnancy & Fertility and Tumor Marker.

By Mode – OTC-based Testing has Intense Future Ahead

The report studies the Point of Care Diagnostics market by Prescription-based Testing and OTC-based Testing.

By End Users – Hospital and Clinic Point of Care Testing Market have Bright Future

It is believed that in near future; Hospital Point of Care Testing Market will certainly rule the Point of Care Testing Market. The report provides a detailed competitive landscaping Market of Hospitals, Clinic, Laboratories, Assisted Living Healthcare Facilities and Home.

By Region – North America and Europe will drive the Point of Care Testing Market

North America and Europe together controls the Point of Care Testing Market. In addition; the report also provides the complete geographical analysis of Asia-Pacific Latin America and Middle East/Africa Point of Care Testing Market.

Companies Analysis

Abbott Laboratories, Siemens Healthineers, Roche Diagnostics, Quest Diagnostic, Becton, Dickinson & Company and Johnson & Johnson are some of the top companies operating in the Point of Care Testing; which has been studied thoroughly in the report.

All the 6 Companies Studied in the Report have been Studied from 3 Points
