Abstracts

United States Generic Drugs Market is projected to exceed USD 210 Billion by 2024. United States Generic Drugs Market is so huge that nearly 80% of dispensing prescriptions accounts generic drugs. According to FDA in the United States 9 out of 10 prescriptions filled are for generic drugs. Most of the physicians and hospitals are now prescribing generic drugs than that of the brand-name drugs. Generic Drugs are those drugs which have same active component as patent drugs in same outline & equal amounts. Generic drugs are also called as Off-Label drugs.

The prime reason for the growth of United States Generic Drugs Market can be attributed to its pricing, on an average generic (Off-Label) drug is around 40-60% cheaper than those of Branded Drugs. However, this price of generic drug further declines, when various generic drug companies target a single approved drug, then market competition results in prices 85% less than the branded drugs. Also, increasing number of drug patent expirations, government initiatives and rising prevalence of chronic diseases are some other factors which are expected to propel the growth of United States Generic Drugs Market in the near future.
