Abstracts

Cosmeceuticals are the latest addition to the cosmetic industry, and are defined as beauty products that claim to have a medicinal value. The cosmetic segment has witnessed an exponential growth in India. Owing to convergence of cosmetic manufacturing companies with that of pharmaceutical companies, the cosmeceutical market has attracted many peers to venture into cosmeceutical business. Growth of cosmeceutical products is driven by increasing expenditure on cosmeceutical products due to increasing aging population, changing consumer lifestyle, wider choice of cosmeceutical products, and continuous innovation.

The cosmeceuticals segment also highlights the growth potential, as demand is increasing for premium cosmeceuticals in the expanding middle class generation in developing nations, such as India. The cosmeceutical market in India is booming endlessly with the advent of online shopping portals. Many international brands sell their cosmeceutical products through online portals, specifically in countries where they do not have any representatives. Anti-aging in skin care cosmeceutical segment has considerably fuelled the cosmeceuticals boom in India. We anticipate that the sector will post a CAGR of around 16% during 2016-2022.
