Abstracts

The doctors that attain a particular education for the cure of emotional and intellectual diseases are known as psychiatrists. The idea of psychologists is related with psychiatrist, but they have a medicinal specialization and capability to define medicines for the cure of intellectual diseases. Various kinds of examinations and test are also performed by psychiatrists as well. They have complete knowledge to talk about issues and give various elucidations about diseases. The importance of psychiatrists is increasing in work organization as they give various solutions to construct fruitful and productive perfections and enhancement in lives of employees. According to my viewpoint, the work organizations should employ psychiatrists in order to solve various kinds of mental and emotional sicknesses of workers. There are various reasons, due to which it is recommended that a company must hire psychiatrists for improvement and betterment of workers. Cont... (1000 words of this report)
