Description

In recent years, the abuse of antibiotics has resulted in the mass generation of drug-resistant strains and the increased incidence of fungal infection deep seated in tissues. On the other hand, as the number of patients with immune deficiency increases and people take human organ transplant, interventional treatment and chemotherapeutic agents for tumor, the incidence of fungal infection has gone up gradually, which has boosted the fast growth of anti-fungal drugs.

That the incidence of fungal infection has reached 80% in today's China has driven the rapid growth of anti-fungal drug market. The overall market scale of domestic anti-fungal infection drugs has hit over CNY 5 billion, of which drugs for deep-seated fungal infection take up over 60%.

Voriconazole, a kind of triazole, was developed by Pfizer and came into the US market in 2002. In 2005, voriconazole was introduced into China with Pfizer and its division Upjohn taking up more than 50% of the market. Currently, local firms making voriconazole are Ebang Pharmaceutical, Sichuan Beauty Sport Huakang Pharmaceutical Co., Ltd, Jincheng HEALTH Pharmaceutical Co., Ltd and GeneTech Pharm which occupy the rest Chinese market. According to CRI's investigation, Voriconazole develops fast after entering China with annual sales rising from CNY 1.14 million in 2005 to CNY 963 million in 2014 and CAGR reaching up to 439.11%.

According to the social epidemiological study, fungal infection is a disease featuring relatively high incidence and reinfection rate. Therefore, anti-fungal drugs enjoy good market prospects.
