Abstracts

A denture is an auxiliary device that replaces teeth, usually used to replace teeth that cannot be used normally due to aging or loss of teeth caused by accidents, natural loss or oral diseases. With the development of economy and improvement of living standard, consumers pay more and more attention to oral health and aesthetics, driving the development of the denture industry.

China is one of the major producers and exporters of denture worldwide. According to CRI's analysis, in 2021, China's denture exports reached 1,965.45 tons, up 50.17% year-on-year, with an export value of US$417 million, up 41.74% year-on-year. From January to October 2022, China exported 1,668.88 tons of denture, up 4.20% year-on-year, with an export value of US$300 million, down 8.15% year-on-year.

In 2021, China exported denture to more than one hundred countries and regions around the world. CRI analysis shows that Hong Kong, China, the United States, Germany, France and Japan are the main export destinations of China's denture by export volume. In 2021, China exported 1,474.11 tons of denture to Hong Kong, China, accounting for 75.00% of the total denture export volume that year, with an export value of US$341 million, accounting for 81.74% of the total export value.

China is a major global denture producer and exporter, and CRI expects the global denture market to continue to grow from 2023-2032, favorably contributing to the rise in China's denture exports.
