This guide will help suppliers stay abreast of market trends in Vietnam, mitigate potential risks and enhance their international competitiveness.

Industry Overview

Whey and whey powder are important functional ingredients widely used in infant formula, nutritional foods, baking, beverages, confectionery and animal feed.

With the continued development of Vietnam's dairy processing, infant formula, sports nutrition, and functional food markets, whey demand is steadily increasing. At the same time, the trend of health-conscious consumption has also driven the growth in demand for high-value-added products such as milk protein and whey protein.

Vietnam's self-sufficiency in dairy raw materials remains insufficient; domestic fresh milk production and the local deep processing of dairy products are currently inadequate to meet the entire demand for whey-based raw materials. Consequently, products such as whey powder, demineralized whey powder, and whey protein are primarily sourced from overseas.

The core consumer base for whey in Vietnam is primarily concentrated within the B2B manufacturing sector; manufacturers of infant formula and nutritional powders constitute one of the most significant sources of demand. This is followed by dairy and food processing enterprises, which utilize whey in products such as yogurt, flavored milk, baked goods, confectionery, chocolate, and beverages.

Furthermore, the expansion of the sports nutrition and high-protein food markets has driven an increased demand for premium products, such as whey protein concentrates. Additionally, a portion of whey powder is utilized in animal feed and pet food, thereby further broadening the industry's demand base.

In the future, as Vietnam promotes the improvement of the dairy industry value chain, increases the self-sufficiency rate of raw materials, and develops high value-added dairy product processing, the whey market is expected to continue to expand, but it will still rely on imports in the short to medium term.

Import Market Overview

Vietnam's whey imports continue to expand rapidly.

According to CRI analysis, Vietnam's whey import market is broadly characterized by 'industrial demand-driven growth and a heavy reliance on imports,' serving as a pivotal raw material market within the country's dairy ingredient and nutritional food supply chains. As Vietnam's dairy ingredient market expands, the demand for related raw material imports is growing in tandem.

According to CRI statistics, approximately 117 buyers in Vietnam imported whey in 2024, totaling US$ 69.33 million, an increase of 7.6%. In 2025, Vietnam's total whey imports reached US$ 77.95 million, an increase of 12.4% year-on-year.

United States, Türkiye and Spain are Vietnam's top three sources for whey imports.

According to CRI analysis, United States, Türkiye, Spain, Italy and Netherlands were the top three sources of Vietnam's whey imports, accounting for approximately 29.4%?13.9%?12.8%?8.9% and 7.3% of total imports respectively in 2025.

Looking ahead, as Vietnam advances the upgrading of its dairy value chain and builds up its domestic deep-processing capabilities, there is some scope for domestic substitution within certain segments of the low-to-mid-range whey product market. However, in specific segments such as high-quality whey powder, demineralized whey powder, and whey protein, imports are expected to maintain a dominant position for a long time.

Overview of Foreign Investment in Vietnam's Whey Industry

Investment Background The Vietnamese whey industry's appeal to foreign investors stems primarily from two factors. First, the domestic supply of raw milk and the infrastructure for advanced whey processing remain relatively underdeveloped; consequently, products such as whey powder, demineralized whey powder, and whey protein have long been dependent on imports.

Second, the Vietnamese government is actively driving the dairy sector toward an upgrade focused on establishing a complete value chain and engaging in high value-added processing. This implies that foreign capital still has substantial room to participate in areas such as dairy raw material supply, advanced processing technologies, product formulation R&D, and localized manufacturing.

Investment Advantages

1. Political stability and rapid economic development. The Vietnamese government has strong governing capabilities, consistent policies, and a focus on economic development and improving people's livelihoods.
2. Relatively low labor costs.
3. Strategically located in the eastern part of the Indochina Peninsula, with a 3,260-kilometer coastline and numerous ports, transportation is convenient.
4. Relatively relaxed policies and regulations provide foreign investors with comprehensive legal protections and generous preferential policies.
5. Vietnam has a high level of openness to the outside world, with 19 free trade agreements signed or in progress. Investors can use platforms such as RCEP and the China-ASEAN Free Trade Area to explore a broader international market.

Investment Regulations

According to Vietnam's investment law and other regulations, dairy products and food processing in Vietnam are not among the sectors restricted or prohibited from foreign investment. Foreign-invested enterprises may enter the market by establishing either wholly foreign-owned enterprises or joint ventures. When engaging in production or trading activities, enterprises are required to complete the necessary investment registration and business registration procedures, as well as comply with Vietnamese regulations regarding quality standards for food products.
