Abstracts

The Indian tablet market has been among the fastest growing markets around the world, witnessing an increasing growth in demand and the emergence of various players in the industry. However, the market is currently struggling owing to compliance issues and decline in the number of new model launches. The increasing demand in the 'Phablet' segment is also responsible for the decline in the Indian tablet sales. Though the coming year has a stagnant outlook, the industry is expected to witness growth in the long term, with a wide-spread adoption of tablets in various industries, such as education, healthcare, etc.
