Abstracts

Embolotherapy is a type of endovascular treatment that aims to occlude abnormal blood vessels in order to control bleeding, close fistulae or arteriovenous malformations, devascularise organs, reduce tumours and much more. To accomplish occlusion, embolotherapy uses minimally-invasive techniques and various embolic agents, such as gelfoam, coils, balloons and angiographic catheters to achieve precise and significant results. According to StrategyHelix, the global embolotherapy market is expected to increase by US$ 1,502 million during 2021-2027, expanding at a CAGR of 6.6% during the forecast period. Growing target population, expanding applications of embolotherapy devices, escalating prevalence of chronic and lifestyle-associated diseases, increasing healthcare expenditure, and improving healthcare infrastructure are expected to boost the market growth in the coming years.
