Abstracts

According to Statistics MRC, the Global Aerosol Paints Market is accounted for $222.60 million in 2020 and is expected to reach $399.97 million by 2028 growing at a CAGR of 7.6% during the forecast period. Increasing product application in the automotive and construction industries, growing disposable incomes, rise in demand for architectural coating applications are driving the market growth. However, stringent emission laws are hampering the growth of the market.

Aerosol paint is a paint available in pressurized sealed container that can be released in the form of a spray after the valve is pressed. They are also known as spray paints. It leaves behind a smooth even coat on the applied surface and is readily available in standard sized cans that are convenient to carry, store and cost affordable.

Based on the technology, the solvent-based segment is going to have lucrative growth during the forecast period due to the demand from developed regions like North America and Europe which can be attributed to the stringent environmental norms and acts pertaining to hazardous chemicals.

By geography, Asia Pacific is going to have high growth during the forecast period due to demand from emerging countries like China, Malaysia and Thailand. Furthermore, rise in per capita income and expansion of end use industries is expected to boost the growth of the market.

Some of the key players profiled in the Aerosol Paints Market include Nippon Paint Holdings Co., Ltd., Masco Corp., Dupli-Color Products Company, LA-CO Industries, Inc., Krylon Products Group, Montana Colors S.L., Southfield Paints Ltd., Kobra Paint, Soppec and Sherwin Williams.
