According to Statistics MRC, the Global Aircraft Maintenance Tooling Market is accounted for $3,304.81 million in 2020 and is expected to reach $5,267.36 million by 2028 growing at a CAGR of 6.0% during the forecast period. The rising production rate of commercial aircraft and increasing requirement of predictive, prescriptive, and condition-based maintenance of aircraft are the major factors propelling the market growth. However, stringent aviation compliance and regulations are hampering market growth.

Aircraft maintenance is the performance of tasks required to ensure the continuing airworthiness of an aircraft or aircraft part, including inspection, overhaul, replacement, defect rectification, and the embodiment of modifications, compliance with airworthiness directives, and repair.

Based on the tool type, the speed handle segment is estimated to have a huge demand during the forecast period. A speed handle allows technicians to spin and eradicate a screw head swiftly with one hand while the other hand is handling other repairs. It can also offer speed handles with sockets to tighten or loosen a nut or bolt.

By geography, Europe is going to have a lucrative growth during the forecast period due to a rise in the expenditure on maintenance for the airlines to ensure the airworthiness of their aircraft assets. Increased focus of original equipment manufacturers (OEMs) on maintenance, repairing, and overhauling (MRO) activities and increased efforts on fuel efficiency are also driving the market.

Some of the key players profiled in the Aircraft Maintenance Tooling Market include AeroWest Mfg. Corp., Alberth Aviation, Farwest Aircraft, Frank Brown & Son Ltd, HYDRO SYSTEMS KG, Inspection Technologies Ltd, Norbar Torque Tools Ltd, PROTO, Red Box Aviation, and Shanghai Aviation Technology Co., Ltd.
