According to Statistics MRC, the Global Ammonium Sulfate Market is expected to grow at a CAGR of 4.7% during the forecast period. Growing utilization of nitrogen fertilizers to boost the crop yields, rising demand for ammonium sulfate as a flame retardant, low cost of ammonium sulfate compared to ammonium chloride, increasing demand for ammonium sulphate from food and beverage industries, developing new bio-based fertilizers such as nitrogen fixation biofertilizers are some of the factors driving the market growth. However, harmful environmental issues associated with ammonium sulphate are hampering the market growth.

Ammonium sulfate is an inorganic salt with a number of commercial uses. The most common use is as a soil fertilizer. The primary use of ammonium sulfate is as a fertilizer for soils. In the soil the ammonium ion is released and forms a small amount of acid, lowering the pH balance of the soil, while contributing essential nitrogen for plant growth. It is also used for various applications such as chemicals, pharmaceuticals and cattle feed supplements.

By application, the demand for fertilizers segment is growing rapidly and the growth can be attributed to farmers are highly benefitted from ammonium sulphate as it helps to increase the crops growth and protects the crops from getting damaged. On the other hand, solid ammonium sulfate has acquired highest market share as they are easily soluble in water and are available in crushed, powdered and crystalline forms.

Asia Pacific is leading the market and the growth of this region can be attributed to rising number of government initiatives to improve crops yield and enabling policies for supporting sustainable agricultural practices. North America has acquired significant market share due to U.S being the largest consumer for ammonium sulfate.

Some of the key players in global Ammonium Sulfate market include Akzo Nobel N.V, Royal DSM, Honeywell, BASF Antwerpen, Sumitomo Chemical, Helm AG, Domo Chemicals, Sabic, Rentech, Agrium, ArcelorMittal, Tereos, Novus, Evonik Antwerpen and Lanxess Antwerpen.
