According to Statistics MRC, the Global Beverage Packaging Market is accounted for $141.05 billion in 2020 and is expected to reach $242.35 billion by 2028 growing at a CAGR of 7.0% during the forecast period. Factors such as increase in per capita incomes and rising beverage consumption in emerging economies are driving the growth of the market. However, stringent environmental legislations are hampering the growth of the market.

Beverage packaging is a substantial part of the beverage industry. The packaging of beverages is a complex process and the diversification of beverages such as alcoholic or non-alcoholic, require different materials and containers. Based on the material, the metal segment is anticipated to expand at a rapid pace during the forecast period owing to the resilience and convenience offered by metal packaging. By geography, Asia Pacific is going to have high growth during the forecast period due to the rise in population, high industrial growth, and urbanization in the region.
