Abstracts

According to Statistics MRC, the Global Customer Communications Management Market is accounted for $1.17 billion in 2020 and is expected to reach $3.13 billion by 2028 growing at a CAGR of 13.1% during the forecast period. CCM solutions help in keeping consumer engagement through omnichannel and technological advancements in NLP are the major factors propelling the market growth. However, data synchronization and complexities are hampering market growth.

Customer Communications Management is software that allows organizations to centralize communications with customers across a dissimilar range of channels, both analog and digital. Artificial Intelligence and Advanced Natural Language Processing have made the CCM much more progress than earlier and are solving business problems by providing better services by being available 24*7, also by giving quick solutions to the customers.

Based on the end user, the banking financial services and insurance (BFSI) segment is estimated to have a lucrative growth due to the capitalization of market opportunities over different geographies and the requirement for cross-selling and up-selling the products. The BFSI sector is gaining an advantage by outsourcing the service, as it helps reduce operating costs and maximize customer service so that the companies in this sector can concentrate on their core business.

By geography, the Asia Pacific is going to have lucrative growth during the forecast period. The performance of CCM solutions has become more probable for these businesses. The rising internet penetration and per-user online expenditure have led organizations to improve their offerings in the CCM market.

Some of the key players profiled in the Customer Communications Management Market include Smart Communications, Adobe, AdventSys, Podium, Braze, Capgemini, Cedar CX Technologies, Doxee, Doxim, Ecrion, Front, HelpCrunch, Hyland, Messagepoint, Napersoft, Sefas Innovation, Inc., Trengo, Zendesk, Newgen Software, OpenText, Oracle, Papyrus Software, Pitney Bowes, and Quadient.
