Abstracts

According to Statistics MRC, the Global Egg Protein Powder Market is accounted for $7.56 billion in 2020 and is expected to reach $13.48 billion by 2028 growing at a CAGR of 7.5% during the forecast period. Some of the factors such as rapid demand from the bakery industry and the rising trend of health clubs & fitness centers are propelling the market growth. However, the easy availability of substitutes is hampering the market growth.

Egg protein powder is a kind of ingredient that is regarded as a lean, carbohydrate, and lactose-free source protein. However, egg protein powders are typically made from egg whites rather than whole eggs. Although the protein quality remains excellent, it may experience less fullness because the high-fat yolks have been removed.

Based on the type, the egg yolk powder segment is estimated to have a lucrative growth due to increasing demand for healthy non-vegetarian snacks. It is widely used in preparing fried chicken or fish batter owing to its neutral taste which helps in retaining flavour from spices and marination. Furthermore, rapid adoption of these products in restaurants in a bid to attract health-conscious consumers is likely to augment the egg protein powder segment.

By geography, North America is going to have a lucrative growth during the forecast period due to the easy availability of raw materials and health-conscious population. Also increasing consumer's focus on a healthy diet is also driving the global egg protein powder market in this region.
