Abstracts

Statistics MRC, is pleased to announce this latest publication. The rising global demand for wood and timber and increasing construction activities and industrialization are some of the key driving factors for the market growth. However, climatic changes and shortage of water due to growing population needs are the factors hindering the market growth.

Forest Land Management is the process of management, conservation, development, restoration and maintenance of forest land. It consists of activities about protection and management of forest land such as firewood and timber sales maintenance of proper records, forest management plans and wildlife management and recreation services. Forest condition assessments permits forest authorities to understand the current conditions, identify potential difficulties and build up plans to achieve future outlooks.

By type of industry, furniture and feature timbers industry segment is anticipated to grow vastly owing to the increasing use of timber. Timber is used for furniture, flooring and appearance-grade applications. Timber trade has altered due to enactment of various ecological laws. These laws aim to inspect the legitimacy of forest products before their sale and trade.

Depending on geography, Asia Pacific is approximated to be the significant market for forest land management market owing to the growing population and rapid urbanization of developing regions such as China, India and others support the demand for timber in this region.
