Abstracts

According to Statistics MRC, the Global Green Packaging Market is valued at $143.2 million in 2015 and is expected to grow at a CAGR of 6.39% to reach $221.15 million by 2022. Rising ecological concerns, increase in non-refundable income and energy consumption are the factors fueling the market. Less understanding about the sustainable packaging, reduced infrastructure of the recycle process, and a few regulatory issues are the factors hindering the market growth. Rising ecological concern is an important factor for green packaging market and is estimated to enhance the opportunities for market growth. In addition, high demand for green packaging is also due to improved awareness regarding health condition, and all these factors are contributing to the growth of the Green packaging market.

The U.S. is the major market for green packaging because of the wide use of packaged products. The population of the Asia Pacific region is huge and rising considerably. Food and beverage industry which constitutes the basic requirements of the rising population has enhanced opportunity in this area. Asia-Pacific region mainly China and India represents the highest growing markets for green packaging.

Some of the major players in the market include Tetra laval, Innovia films limited, Ball corporation, Amcor, EnviroPAK, Bemis Company, Dupont (EI) de Nemours, Crown holding, Biopack Environmental Solutions and Constar International Inc.
