Abstracts

According to Statistics MRC, the Global Native Starches market is expected to grow at a CAGR of 4.2% during the forecast period. The application of native starches in different industries is growing the demand for the market. In addition, native starches are used in cosmetic hair and beauty care products which in turn helps to increase the global demand for native starches. In addition, due to its low cost, easy availability, it is extensively used in various non-food applications which provide huge growth opportunity for the market in the near future.

The competitive environment in this market enhances product portfolio from current key players. The global market is mainly captured by some key manufacturers. Most of the companies operating in this market are focusing on increasing its operations across the world and investing in R& D to offer products with better functionality. North America held the largest market share during the forecast period owing to their high consumption rate. Moreover, APAC is anticipated to acquire the major share in the global market owing to rising demand for natural and organic food additive. In addition, Asia-Pacific region is in a superior position to produce starch at more competitive prices than developed countries in European and North American region.

Some of the key players in the market include AMYLCO Group of Companies, Cargill, Incorporated Gulshan Polyols Ltd., Honest Derivatives Pvt. Ltd., etc., Ingredion Incorporated, SPAC Starch Products (INDIA) LTD, Tate & Lyle, Tereos Starch & Sweeteners, Thai Flour Co.,Ltd., Universal Biopolymers, AGRANA Investment Corp., Archer Daniels Midland Company, Roquette Frères and Grain Processing Corporation.
