Abstracts

Mature population and growth in Asian American nationalities are some of the key factors driving the fresh produce market. Large population will drive demand for produce packaging. Produce packaging will benefit from market trends towards healthier food consumption, particularly in fruit applications. Fresh produce has attained more value in both retail and foodservice industries with the growing demand for meat.

Due to their less cost, graphics capabilities and well established recycling infrastructure corrugated boxes are the leading produce packaging type. The fastest growing package formats are those that possess artistic appeal, such as plastic containers and stand-up pouches, both of which have the ability to increase brand recognition and marketing.

Some of the key players in the market include Honeywell International Incorporated, Bemis Company Incorporated, Dow Chemical Company, Amcor Limited, Reynolds Group Holdings Limited, Winpak, DuPont (EI) de Nemours, Berry Plastics Corporation, International Paper Company, Reynolds Group Holdings Limited, Sealed Air Corporation, Coveris Holdings SA, AEP Industries Incorporated, American Packaging Corporation, Cascades Incorporated, Printpack Incorporated and Sonoco Products Company.
