Abstracts

According to Statistics MRC, the Global Speaker Driver Market is accounted for $25.90 billion in 2020 and is expected to reach $37.12 billion by 2028 growing at a CAGR of 4.6% during the forecast period. Growing popularity of bass-heavy headphones, increasing demand for consumer electronics, rising consumption of online audio and video streaming services, improving standards of living, rapid urbanization, and robust penetration of mobile phones and high-speed and cheaper internet connectivity are driving the market growth. However, harmful effects on the health of listeners may restrict the market growth.

The speaker driver is a device which converts an electrical audio signal into sound waves. It can also be known as a loudspeaker. Based on the device type, the headphones/earphones segment is going to have lucrative growth during the forecast period, due to the rising demand for wireless headphones/earphones among consumers of varying age groups and introduction of airpods into the market.

By geography, Asia Pacific is going to have high growth during the forecast period, owing to robust infiltration of mobile devices, the presence of key players in the region, growing disposable income, and quick growth of 5G infrastructures in countries such as India, South Korea, China, and Japan.
