Abstracts

Australia plastic recycling market stood at 2.96 Million Tonnes in 2020 and is forecast to reach 3.99 Million Tonnes by 2030, growing at a healthy CAGR of 2.91% until 2030. Continuous advancements in recycling technologies coupled with the growing awareness regarding recycling are the key factors responsible for bolstering the growth of the plastic recycling market in the country. Moreover, a recent ban on domestic waste product exports has put the responsibility back on Australians regarding plastic recycling, which is anticipated to drive market growth in the coming years. Australia National Waste Policy was introduced in 2009 and updated in 2018 has five basic principles such as improve resource recovery, avoid waste, increase the use of recycled material, manage material flow, and enhance information flow to support innovation. Such policies also favor the use of recycled plastic in the country, which is likely to boost the plastic recycling market in the region. The COVID-19 outbreak had a devastating impact on the economy but increased the consumption of plastics for packaging and manufacturing essential items. However, the limited mobility of goods and personnel created a huge lack of labour force, responsible for the collection of plastic waste around the country, which affected the Australia Plastic Recycling market negatively.
