Abstracts

Global PCOS treatment market valued around USD 3.39 Billion in 2019 and is expected to grow at a formidable rate of around 8.63% during the forecast period. The global PCOS treatment market is driven by the increasing prevalence of diabetes and obesity among the woman population. Additionally, increasing cases of hormonal imbalances in the women are further expected to propel the market during forecast period. Furthermore, the development of new drugs and treatment options for the treatment of PCOS is expected to fuel the growth of market through 2025.

The global PCOS treatment market is segmented based on surgery, drug, diagnosis, end user, company and region. Based on surgery, the market can be categorized into ovarian wedge resection, cyst aspiration and laparoscopic ovarian drilling. The laparoscopic ovarian drilling segment is expected to dominate the market during forecast years. This can be attributed to the fertility problems faced by the women due to this problem and the response to medications generally weakens over time in women. Additionally, this procedure is cost effective and easy to perform which is driving the growth of segment across the globe.

Regionally, the global PCOS treatment market has been segmented into Asia-Pacific, North America, South America, Europe, and Middle East & Africa. Among these, North America is expected to dominate the global PCOS treatment market owing to the growing prevalence of overweight and obese women population in the region.

Major players operating in the global PCOS treatment market include Bristol-Myers Squibb Company, Bayer AG, Pfizer, Inc., Abbott Laboratories, Inc., Merck & Co., Inc., Sanofi SA, AstraZeneca Plc, Novartis AG, Teva Pharmaceutical Industries Limited, Ferring Pharmaceuticals, Inc., and others. The companies are developing advanced technologies and launching new services in order to stay competitive in the market. Other competitive strategies include mergers & acquisitions and new product developments.
