Abstracts

India BOPP and BOPET films demand stood at 328.98 Thousand Tonnes in FY2021 and is forecast to reach 568.09 Thousand Tonnes by FY2030, growing at a healthy CAGR of 6.26% until FY2030. The major demand for films comes from the pharmaceutical sector where these are used as a packaging material due to their oil- and moisture-resistant properties, that help in maintaining the physical and chemical properties of the drugs. Besides, rising e-commerce activities in India have generated demand for high-quality packaging materials, which serve as the major driving factor for the growth of films in the country. The increasing demand for BOPP and BOPET from the electronics and electrical sector also contribute to the rising adoption of films in the region. Besides, the rise in consumer spending on personal care products has also escalated the demand for BOPP and BOPET films in India. Coronavirus infection spread due to the COVID-19 virus caused disturbances in the world economy. India was affected drastically too. Although the market functions were limited to necessity products, the pharmaceutical and healthcare industries were running on overdrive, which led to an increased demand for BOPP and BOPET films.
