Abstracts

In 2018, the demand for PTFE in India stood at approximately 5 KT and is expected to witness a healthy growth rate during the forecast period. The major application of PTFE is in automotive and transportation sector as it is being used in manufacturing of plain bearings, gears, seals, gaskets, slide plates, bushings etc., where it outperforms nylon. The demand for PTFE in the electrical and electronic industry is expected to rise due to its excellent dielectric properties. PTFE film is used to produce carbon fiber composite which is primarily used in the aerospace industry. The PTFE is used to prevent the built-in part from sticking with non-production material and acts as a barrier to the bagging material in carbon-fiber composites. PTFE has the small pore structures that make the fabric material breathable and waterproof. Furthermore, PTFE is chemically and electrically resistant due to which it is also used in coatings, and due to its high viscosity, it is used in missiles and aircraft as well. Furthermore, PTFE is also increasingly being used in the electricals and electronics industry owing to its enhanced flexibility and non-sticking properties.

In India, PTFE is produced by Gujarat Fluorochemicals Limited and Hindustan Fluorocarbons Limited, among which Gujarat Fluorochemicals Limited is the major producer with the maximum capacity to produce PTFE.
