Abstracts

Global Nail Art Printer Market is anticipated to project robust growth in the forecast period due to the increasing spending power, rising adoption of the western lifestyle, increasing technological advancement and its rising use in salons and fashion stores.

A small, portable smart gadget that can imprint any design on the nail is called a nail art printer. The product can be used in different places, including commercial nail art services, wedding studios, and self-service nail art for individuals.

People are becoming more aware of their aesthetics as they consider their appearance an essential component of their personality. This has also increased the number of beauty salons, where women are encouraged to experiment with new cosmetic features, including nail art.

The market for nail art printers is expected to increase as a result of factors such as influence from western lifestyles, adoption of nail art printers in spas, fashion stores, beauty salons, nail salons, and wedding studios.

Increasing Influence of Social Media Platforms Will Boost the Market Growth

Social media is the main channel for driving visitors to new businesses' websites. Primarily, social media networks are used by newly established ecommerce enterprises to get foothold. One of the most important tools for brands to interact with their target audience is social media. 86% of social media users follow companies they want to collaborate with. The largest beneficiaries of social media are companies with an online presence. According to studies, social media has an influence on 75.3% of consumers who make a certain purchase on e-commerce sites. The nail art printer industry has fast acquired popularity in both the commercial and residential sectors due to women's growing preference for cosmetics and personal care products. Because these devices can print designs faster than a nail artist, they enable nail art professionals to serve more consumers, making them believe that a nail art printer is a reasonable investment. Women's ties with fashion and beauty enthusiasts are being fostered by the growing significance of social media platforms, which help to raise awareness of new beauty-related technology. Furthermore, in today's fashion centric culture, more women are likely to use nail art printers due to their growing self-consciousness about their personalities and looks.

New Technologically Advanced Product Launches Will Fuel the Market Growth

The nail art industry has undergone a transformation due to constantly changing and improving nail art technology. The majority of professionals use these expensive devices. Natural manicure is a cultural bridge that cuts across the increasing global popularity of sculptured nails, fiberglass wraps, acrylic overlays, and nail art. In 2022, Nailbot introduced a new smartphone nail art printer. It only takes five seconds to print personalized quick nail art directly on fingernails. The Preemadonna network of innovative technologists that powers the Nailbot, encourages creativity and self-expression through their creations. The O2 nail art printer is considered as a proficient printer due to its ability to create high-quality nail art graphics. They print at the industry's current gold standard for resolution, 2400 dots per inch (DPI). Market players are rapidly refocusing their attention on research and innovation initiatives for the creation of technologically advanced nail art printers that could more effectively break into the market. This is probably going to fuel the global market's future expansion.

Growing Popularity of Anime-Inspired Nail Art Will Expand the Market Growth

Japanese nail artists have gained popularity in recent years for their 3D nail designs, which can be used to achieve a variety of effects. Though, the Harajuku fashion trend of the 1990s and 2000s have changed but still, Japanese nail artists have an unique 'kawaii' element Japanese nail art with anime influences has gained popularity among people all over the world. The Japanese culture has influenced the idea of self-expression through 3D scrylic and gel nail art. A wide populace, including millennials, teenagers, and seniors, also follows various anime trends. This has further turned into a rising market for nail designers who want to imprint anime designs on clients' nails, capitalizing on the appeal of anime animation. Thus, rising demand of anime inspired nail art will fuel the market growth in the forecasted period.
