Abstracts

South Korea Bisphenol S demand stood at 1.49 Thousand Tonnes in 2020 and is forecast to reach 14.39 Thousand Tonnes by 2030, growing at a healthy CAGR of 24.29% until 2030. The increasing use of e-commerce and online billing using POS machines has led to the rising adoption for thermal paper, thereby stimulating the demand for Bisphenol S. Besides, thermal papers find application in the labeling of food and beverages, which increase the demand for Bisphenol S in the region due to growing adoption of packaged food items. Additionally, there has been a gradual replacement of Bisphenol A by Bisphenol S as the latter is less toxic and more eco-friendly alternatives, which has resulted in growth in the demand for Bisphenol S across various end-user industries in South Korea. The rising construction sector is projected to increase the demand for epoxy resin, the end-product of Bisphenol S, which is likely to contribute to its demand during the forecast period. Besides, the growing use of Bisphenol alternatives such as phenolic resins and polyurethanes across various industries owing to increasing industrialization in the region is likely to propel South Korea Bisphenol S market growth during the forecast period. The COVID-19 caused major disruptions in the economy, which led to the shutting down of production facilities for a temporary period, restrictions in the movement of goods and personnel, and disturbances in supply chains, which affected the Bisphenol S demand during the challenging times. However, with gradually increasing commercialization and industrialization activities, the South Korea Bisphenol S market is regaining momentum and is likely to grow at a significant rate in the coming years.
