Abstracts

UAE General Surgery Devices market is expected to register robust growth in the forecast period, 2023-2027. General surgery devices are commonly utilized in several general surgical procedures, including breast surgery, gall bladder removal, hernia repair, appendix surgery, etc. These devices play a significant role to offer enhanced health to the population. Inflating need for enhanced devices, rising product innovations in the field of medical equipment, and continuous technological advancements in the devices are some of the major leading factors for the growth of the UAE general surgery devices market. The availability of various advanced surgical devices, the growing prevalence of heart-related issues, rising incidences of gastrointestinal diseases and osteoporosis, and other such diseases are primarily propelling the demand for general surgery devices in UAE. Additionally, enhanced diagnostics and healthcare facilities, especially in the developed regions contribute towards the growth of the general surgery devices market.

Expanding Geriatric Population Drives the Market Growth

The growing geriatric population across UAE is one of the key factors propelling the growth of the general surgery devices market. The aged population is more susceptible to numerous diseases, and it will lead to elevated consumption of general surgery devices. Hence, the market is expected to grow rapidly in the future. With this, the older age group is more prone to ocular disorders, gastric disorders, intestinal disorders, and other health conditions due to low immunity which is expected to induce the growth of the UAE general surgery devices market in the coming years.

Growing Inclination Towards Minimally Invasive Surgery Stimulates the Market Growth

Robotics surgery is a part of minimally invasive surgery which is expanding at a fast pace owing to its high precision and rising adoption in hospitals. Robotic-assisted surgery represents a type of minimally invasive surgery that utilizes technology to provide surgeons with greater control, access, and accuracy during the surgical procedure. In addition to this, continuous technological advancements in the healthcare sector and shifting preference towards hassle-free surgical procedures including robotic surgery, laparoscopic surgery, and others are expected to fuel the sales of surgical device suppliers. Escalating demand for bariatric minimally invasive surgery and cosmetic minimally invasive surgery is further propelling the growth of the market.

The incorporation of Advanced Technologies is Projected to Boost the Market Growth

The introduction of technologically advanced products, such as narrow-band imaging endoscopes, and HD cameras by prominent manufacturers are significantly fueling the growth of the UAE general surgery devices market. Patients, surgeons, and hospitals have benefited from high-precision, minimally invasive robotic surgery (MIRS), and higher adoption of MIS lead to grow over the past five years. Moreover, technological upgradation in surgical procedures, including the integration of robotics with artificial intelligence (AI), and the launch of computer-assisted systems wherein the surgeon utilizes computer and software technology to control and move surgical instruments are offering lucrative opportunities to market players.
