Abstracts

UAE ultrasound systems market is anticipated to register growth with an impressive CAGR in the forecast period, 2023-2027, on the account of increasing applications of radio imaging in diagnostic medicine. A surge in the demand for early and efficient diagnosis is anticipated to drive the growth of the UAE ultrasound systems market in the upcoming five years. Moreover, the increasing geriatric population and their susceptibility toward chronic diseases along with the increasing instances of chronic diseases among the population of the country is further supporting the growth of the UAE ultrasound systems market in the next five years.

Ultrasound systems are diagnostic devices that produce x-ray images of organs and tissues for examination purposes. The ultrasound machines function on the physics principle of sound waves. The system releases sound waves that when coming in contact with the body or the organ, reflect and creates an image of the same on a detector. The device is majorly utilized for the study of a developing fetus (unborn baby), a person's abdominal and pelvic organs, muscles and tendons, or heart and blood vessels.

Growing Disease Burden Promises Market Growth

Rapidly increasing instances of chronic diseases and orthopedic diseases among the population of the United Arab Emirates are actively driving the growth of the UAE ultrasound systems market in the upcoming five years. Increasing cases of cardiovascular diseases and accounting for over 28% of the annual death rate is a major concern and has increased the consumer's demand for early diagnosis of heart attacks and shocks. Moreover, the rising demand for regular checkups by heart patients to monitor their health conditions further aids the growth of the UAE ultrasound systems market in the upcoming five years.

Increasing cases of ovarian cancer among the female population further support market growth. Ultrasound systems may not confirm for a tumor be cancer, but for regular diagnosis and checkups, finding an ovarian cyst in the patient can be fulfilled by ultrasound systems. The process is safer and without the severe consequences of regular exposure. 95 new ovarian cancer cases were discovered among the female population in the country in 2020.

Growing Instances of Pregnancy Drives Market Growth

The widespread implementation of ultrasound diagnostics is for the checkup of fetal development during pregnancies. Increasing instances of pregnancies, a rapidly growing population, and rising awareness among the population toward the health and development of the fetus in the womb further drive the demand and thus the growth of the UAE ultrasound systems market in the next five years. The number of births in the United Arab Emirates increased from 11.01 thousand in 1971 to 100.02 thousand in 2020.

Rapidly increasing advancements in healthcare services have provided better patient care for females expecting babies, and have further aided the growth of the UAE ultrasound systems market.
