Abstracts

This country profile provides an in-depth analysis of Taiwan's textile and clothing industry, which has made a dramatic recovery since the end of the global economic downturn. The industry is also benefiting from an improvement in political relations and stands to gain from the signing of trade agreements with mainland China. This report looks at textile and clothing production and consumption in the country, as well as production technology and machinery which have helped to further develop Taiwan's role as a leading source of synthetic fibres and fabrics. The report also features a geographical, political and economic profile; a detailed look at the country's imports and exports; a review of government policies, investment incentives and foreign investments; an analysis of strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats; and a look at Taiwan's infrastructure and human resources and how these affect the textile and clothing industry.
