Abstracts

The Europe collagen peptides market is expected to grow from US$ 260.84 million in 2023 to US$ 379.61 million by 2030. It is estimated to grow at a CAGR of 5.5% from 2023 to 2030.

Wide Application Scope is Fuels Europe collagen peptides market.

Collagen peptide is a structural protein produced by hydrolysis of collagen found in connective tissue, skin, tendons, bones, cartilage, and other body parts. It supports tissues structurally and is involved in cellular functions such as tissue healing, immunological response, cellular communication, and cellular migration. Collagen is generally obtained from bovine connective tissues or marine sources. It has many applications across multiple end-use industries, including food & beverages, pharmaceuticals & nutraceuticals, and personal care. In the food & beverages industry, collagen peptide is used in yogurts, confectioneries, nutritional bars, ready-to-drink beverages, and others. Collagen peptide-induced foods and beverages enhance protein levels in the body; moreover, they help repair skin texture, improve bone and muscle health, and strengthen joints. Rising awareness regarding the health benefits of collagen peptides among customers is driving the demand for collagen peptide-induced foods and beverages.

Europe Collagen Peptides Market Overview

The collagen peptides market in Europe is segmented into Germany, France, Italy, the UK, Russia, and the Rest of Europe. Demand for food supplements with extra nutrients and popularity of antiaging beauty products are the two major trends shaping the collagen peptides market in the region. Such evolving lifestyle trends related to the food supplement industry are remarkably influencing the purchases of consumers. Moreover, food supplement providers are changing their offerings to meet consumer preferences in the region. Collagen peptides supplements help in healthy weight loss and improved bone health. Thus, the growing trend of taking supplements in the form of processed food, such as protein chocolate powder, bars, and beverages, is supporting the collagen peptides market growth in Europe.

The collagen peptides market is growing due to the presence of well-established players such as Gelita AG, Protein S.A., Ewald-Gelatin GmbH, and Rousselot SAS. These players are taking various initiatives such as collaborations, partnerships, and mergers to expand the geographical reach of their products. For instance, in October 2020, Rousselot SAS and Giusto Faravelli entered a distribution partnership. Through the partnership, Giusto Faravelli will distribute Rousselot's products across Italy.
