Abstracts

The Europe consent management market was valued at US$ 168.11 million in 2022 and is expected to reach US$ 771.44 million by 2030; it is estimated to grow at a CAGR of 21.0% from 2022 to 2030.

Increasing Government Regulations and Norms for Data Protection Fuel the Europe Consent Management Market

The European Union's (EU) General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) is one of the strongest privacy and security laws in the world, which came into effect in May 2018. The regulation was introduced to improve the protection of European data rights and also standardize the process of safeguarding these rights. This agency will oversee the use of high-risk data practices, which include using automated decision systems, such as machine learning, profiling individuals on a large scale, and processing personally identifying biometric information, such as genetic data. The rise in changes and upgrades in regulations for data protection is shifting the vendors' focus on developing the tools that would allow the companies to assess their compliance. In addition, in the coming years, jurisdictions worldwide are expected to create new requirements for data protection, and companies would raise their demand to leverage a comprehensive and mature compliance solution that would integrate with existing security as well as IT and marketing investments. This is further fueling the growth of the Europe consent management market.

Europe Consent Management Market Overview

At present, the whole world is experiencing strict data privacy legislation. Globally operating organizations have no options left but to adopt cross-border and cross-regulatory compliance strategies to operate efficiently. One of the major factors that have drastically impacted the way companies interact with customers and use their data is the growing data protection regulations by the governments of different countries. One such regulation is General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR), a data privacy regulation enforced by European Union (EU) in May 2018. As per the GDPR, an organization must take consent from the citizen whose personal data it wants to process. Consent management platforms and solutions help the website meet the GDPR and compliance by gaining user consent for collecting their data for further use during website visits via cookies. They also help the websites automate and simplify the consent management process. Some of the other drivers fueling the growth of Europe consent management market include stricter data privacy regulations, proliferation of data-driven technologies, increasing awareness and concerns for data privacy, and increasing demand for improved the customer experience. On the other hand, some of the restraining factors of the Europe consent management market include diverse regional regulations, user resistance and consent fatigue, cost of compliance, and implementation challenges.
