Abstracts

The hospitality textile products market size was valued at US$ 11.06 billion in 2024 and is expected to reach US$ 18.46 billion by 2031; it is estimated to register a CAGR of 7.8% from 2025 to 2031.

The global increase in the tourism and hospitality industry is the major growth driver of the hospitality textile products market, owing to higher disposable incomes and the desire to travel. Hotels, restaurants, and resorts want the best quality linen, towels, and bedding to create the best experience for the traveler. All these factors have contributed to the demand for textiles that are durable, beautiful, and environmentally friendly. Sustainability is huge in the hospitality textile products market, and the desire to have organic textiles, recycled textiles, and biodegradable textiles, following environmental guidelines and expectations from consumers, can help the hospitality textile market to grow. The increase in online booking of travel accommodations with companies like Airbnb shows that hospitality will begin to invest in textile supplies consistently to highlight quality linens and quality towels. In summary, the hospitality textiles market is taking shape through the evolving preferences and expectations of a variety of consumers, growing sustainability initiatives, and advancements in textile technology.

The hospitality textile products market analysis has been performed by considering the following segments: product type and application. Based on the product type, the market is segmented into bed sheet, pillowcases and protectors, duvet covers, bathroom textiles, blankets, duvets and comforters, mattress pads and encasements, kitchen towels, and tablecloths. The bed sheet segment is sub-segmented into flat sheets, fitted sheets, decorative top sheets, and baby crib sheets. The bathroom textiles segment is sub-segmented into bath and pool towels, hand towels, bathmats and rugs, and bathrobes. The blankets, duvets, and comforters segment is sub-segmented into synthetic and natural fill. The bed sheet segment is expected to register a significant CAGR from 2025 to 2031. In terms of application, the hospitality textile products market is segmented into hotels and motels, resorts, and spas, and hammams. The hotels and motels segment held a significant hospitality textile products market share in 2024.

In terms of revenue, Europe dominated the hospitality textile products market share in 2024. Germany contributes significantly to the growth of the hospitality textile products market in Europe. The hospitality textile market in Germany is a significant segment within the country's solid hospitality industry because of the hospitality-themed demand in hotels, restaurants, and even event-holding spaces. Bed linen, towels, table linen, and curtains form the key products that require a high degree of quality, durability, and sustainability. With a strong tourism segment and stringent hotel standards in place in Germany, the hospitality textile market benefits greatly from such opportunities as eco-friendly textiles and innovation. Suppliers with a broad portfolio serve varied needs, from sumptuous hotels to the lowest of classified hotels, with antimicrobial textiles being strongly accepted, easy-to-care textiles coming next.
