The South & Central America acrylic teeth market is expected to grow from US$ 26.29 million in 2022 to US$ 41.00 million by 2028. It is estimated to register a CAGR of 7.7% from 2022 to 2028.

Rising Incidence of Dental Problems and Increase in Government Initiatives Fuel South & Central America Acrylic Teeth Market Growth

The incidence of dental and oral conditions such as tooth canal infection, dry mouth, tooth loss, cavities, and dental trauma is rising across the region. Periodontal diseases, injuries, tooth decay, and accidents are among the major causes of tooth loss. The increasing prevalence of dental diseases is creating the demand for acrylic teeth to treat such conditions. Owing to the increasing prevalence of dental problems among the large population, especially among children, governments are taking initiatives to increase awareness and provide dental treatments and services under various schemes. Thus, the rising prevalence of dental problems and the growing initiatives of governments are creating demand for dentures, which, in turn, driving the South & Central America acrylic teeth market.

South & Central America Acrylic Teeth Market Overview

The South & Central America acrylic teeth market is segmented into Brazil, Argentina, and the Rest of South & Central America. South & Central America occupies a significant position in the acrylic teeth market and is expected to register significant growth during the forecast period. The major factors attributed to market growth include the rise in the prevalence of dental problems, an increase in cosmetic dental procedures, and technological advancements in the field of dentistry. Further, an increase in innovation, product launches, favorable government initiatives, and the presence of a large geriatric population prone to various dental problems are expected to boost the growth of the acrylic teeth market in the region.
