Abstracts

In Q1/2020, global electricity output decreased by 2.6% compared to Q1/2019. Specifically, the share of electricity from renewable sources tends to increase while the demand for electricity from other energy sources decreases.

Demand for electricity tends to decrease in Q1/2020, due to measures to blockade and social isolation to limit the spread of disease, people living and working at home more. and the weather in the first months of the year is more comfortable than the same period last year. Notably, the disease has a greater influence on electricity demand in countries with a large proportion of the service sector than countries that rely heavily on industry.

In Q1/2020, the decline in electricity demand along with the decline in input energy prices in the wake of disease outbreaks contributed to the decline in electricity prices.

Contents

ABBREVIATIONS

Summary

1. BUSINESS ENVIRONMENT

- 1.1 Macroeconomic situation
- 1.2 Legal barrier
- 1.3 Economic agreements

2. CURRENT SITUATION OF WORLD ELECTRICITY INDUSTRY

- 2.1 Supply and demand of electricity
- 2.2 Trend of electricity development in the world
- 2.3 Price movements
- 2.4 Current status of electricity use in some Southeast Asian countries

3. SITUATION OF VIETNAM'S ELECTRICITY INDUSTRY

- 3.1 History of Vietnam's electricity industry
- 3.2 Electricity value chain
- 3.3 Fuel inlet
- 3.4 Electricity generation
- 3.5 Transmission and distribution of electricity
- 3.6 Electricity consumption
- 3.7 Electricity prices
- 3.8 Electricity industry structure

4. ISSUES ON ELECTRICITY INDUSTRY DEVELOPMENT

- 4.1 Existence
- 4.2 Challenges
- 4.3 Risks

5. PLANNING AND FORECASTING

- 5.1 Planning

5.2 Forecast

6. BUSINESS ANALYSIS

6.1 Typical companies in the industry

6.2 Target group of business results

6.3 Financial indicators group

6.4 Group of payment criteria

Appendix
