Abstracts

The paper packaging market is expected to undergo a period of significant change during 2012-2022. The emerging markets will be characterised by strong consumer driven economic growth and this will be reflected in the growth of the paper packaging market. Competition from the developing regions will also create irrevocable changes to the competitive landscape of the global paper packaging market over 2012-2022. The repercussions of the Euro crisis are expected to continue for a significant portion of the forecast period and will be a significant factor in the paper packaging market over 2012-2022. Visiongain has determined that the value of the global paper packaging market in 2012 will reach $227.9bn.
