Abstracts

Citrus Pectin Market is projected to register a high CAGR from 2023 to 2030.

Citrus pectin is gaining attention as a natural thickening and gelling agent in food and beverage applications. The market is driven by the rise of clean-label, plant-based, and vegan product formulations, where citrus pectin is used as a stabilizer in dairy alternatives, jams, and bakery products. Additionally, its role as a dietary fiber, promoting gut health, is increasing its use in functional foods. Innovations in pectin extraction techniques and the use of organic citrus sources are expected to propel market growth through 2030.
