Halal Meat Market Insights, 2025

The halal meat market in 2025 is expanding steadily, propelled by rising global Muslim populations, increased awareness of halal certification, and growing demand for ethical, traceable meat products. While traditionally concentrated in Muslim-majority countries, halal meat is now finding broader appeal in Western markets where consumers associate it with cleanliness, humane treatment, and spiritual significance. Retailers and foodservice providers are increasingly offering halal-certified chicken, beef, and lamb to capture this expanding demographic. Cold-chain logistics, blockchain-backed traceability, and international halal regulatory harmonization are playing pivotal roles in scaling supply chains.
